

An aerial photograph of a residential neighborhood. A large, rectangular, undeveloped plot of land with a dirt and grass surface occupies the upper left portion of the image. To the right of this plot is a paved basketball court with white court markings and a black safety fence. Further to the right is a small playground with a sandpit and metal equipment. The surrounding area includes several multi-story residential buildings with brick and concrete facades, a parking lot with several cars, and a mix of green trees and bare branches. The scene is captured from a high angle, showing the layout of the streets and the relative positions of the different areas.
